

Assessing Biodiversity from Space: Physiological Diversity Across Spatial Scales and Optical Sensors

Isabelle Helfenstein, Fabian D. Schneider, Michael E. Schaepman, Felix Morsdorf

University of
Zurich UZH

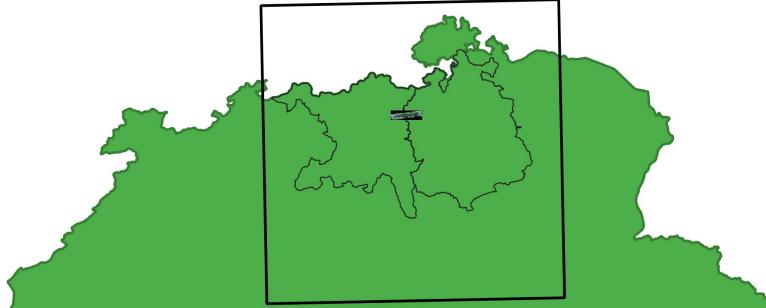

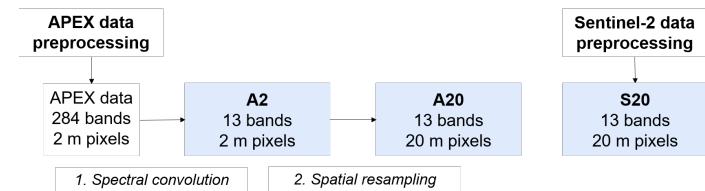

Isabelle Helfenstein

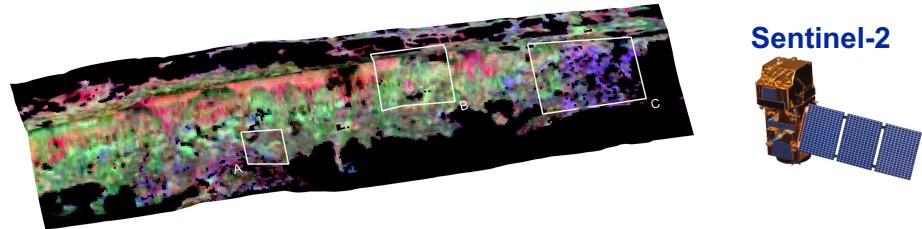

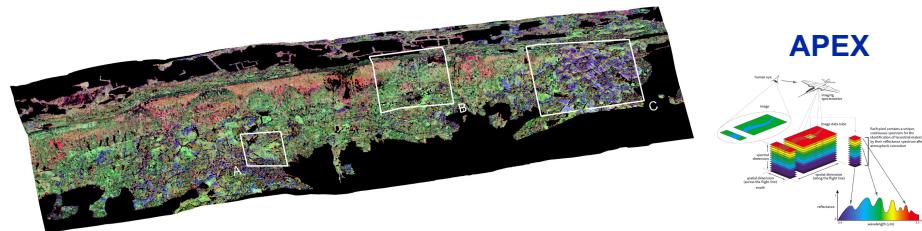

isabelle.helfenstein@geo.uzh.ch

From Airborne imaging spectroscopy to satellite data: Transfer methods to map physiological diversity

- Satellites enable repeated measurements on large extents
 - Differentiating between scaling and sensor-related influences

Physiological traits to derive functional richness and divergence: chlorophyll, carotenoid and water content.

Images: <http://www.apex-esa.org/content/imaging-spectroscopy/>, https://de.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sentinel-2#/media/File:Sentinel_2-IMG_5873-white.jpg